DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Raybould et al. (4,942,322).

Regarding claim 1, Raybould et al. show a permanent magnet rotor, comprising:

- A solid cylindrical permanent magnet (12);
- A power transmitting member (16) connected to an axial end of said permanent magnet, and
- A reinforcement sleeve (14) fitted on an outer circumferential surface of said permanent magnet.

Regarding claim 3, it is noted that Raybould et al. also show all of the limitations of the claimed invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Raybould et al. in view of Dohogne (4,910,861).

Regarding claim 2, Raybould et al. show all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for the sleeve made of fiber reinforced plastic material.

Dohogne makes the sleeve of fiber reinforced plastic material for the purpose of reducing eddy current.

Since Raybould et al. and Dohogne are all from the same field of endeavor; the purpose disclosed by one inventor would have been recognized in the pertinent art of the others.

It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to make the sleeve of plastic as taught by Dohogne for the purpose discussed above.

6. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Raybould et al. in view of Montagu (5,424,632).

Regarding claim 4, Raybould et al. show all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for the length selected such that L/D is 0.14 or greater where L is the overlap length, and D is an outer diameter of said permanent magnet.

Montagu selects the length such that L/D is 0.14 or greater where L is the overlap length, and D is an outer diameter of said permanent magnet for the purpose of improving a better bandwidth.

Since Raybould et al. and Montagu are all from the same field of endeavor; the purpose disclosed by one inventor would have been recognized in the pertinent art of the others.

It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to select the appropriate length as taught by Montagu for the purpose discussed above.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 5 and 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the record of prior art does not show the power transmitting member connected to the axial end of said permanent magnet by brazing as shown in claim 5. Claim 6 is a dependent claim.
